BACK TO THE ELISOR FOR BOSS ABE RUEF

Court Grants Privileges to the Indicted Man, but Final Decision Is Withheld for Present.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—A partial ruling in favor of Abraham Ruef was the outcome this morning of Ruef's petition to the Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus releasing him from the custody of the elisor.

The court instructed that henceforth the elisor shall permit Ruef to see within reasonable hours any person whom he desires to see and to talk with his attorneys, his witnesses, the members of his family and other persons with whom he has business outside of the hearing of his guards.

Chief Justice Beatty read as follows from what he called a memorandum of a decision agreed upon by the entire court:

"Section 688 of the Penal Code declares that no person charged with a public offense can be subjected before conviction to any more restraint than is necessary for his detention to await the trial. State's attorney, however, this is a recognition of the law that he is entitled to the fullest liberty compatible with the assurance of his appearance to answer the charge. It should be unnecessary to say, in view of this statute, that an unconvicted person who is charged with crime merely, should and must be allowed the utmost freedom possible with due regard solely to his appearance in court to answer its orders and processes."

The court took under advisement the subject of Ruef's petition, gave it to the right of Judge Dunn to commit him to the custody of an elisor empowered to choose and establish a private prison. Counsel for Ruef were informed that the court would hear no argument and were instructed to file a memorandum of additional authorities.

WHAT CHIEF JUSTICE SAID.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—The Supreme court today in its hearing of the application for a writ of habeas corpus by Abraham Ruef to be released from the custody of Elisor Biggs, granted Ruef some relief from the exacting of the writ but took under advisement the question of discharging the accused entirely from the elisor's custody.

"The opinion of the court," said

Chief Justice Beatty, "is that the test by which the elisor should be governed in the matter of allowing persons to see Ruef himself" should be the request of Mr. Ruef himself."

"And," interrupted Justice Angelotti, "he should not be required to see any person whom he does not want to see."

Continuing Chief Justice Beatty said:

"He is entitled to see his partners in the practice of law and persons with whom he had business dealings and his relatives. And this should be done outside of the presence and the hearing of attendants. The people he is allowed to see, are to be seen of course, only at reasonable hours. The petitioner is remanded to the custody of the elisor."

CASE UP BEFORE.

"This case has been before this court twice. We do not want to hear any further argument at this time. The agreement of the court is well understood by the elisor."

"We have a number of authorities

GRAND JURY IS AFTER MACHINE GRAFT TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—Before the grand jury adjourns this afternoon a new witness will be called to the scene to help clear the telephone tangle. This witness, who up to today has been mentioned but little in connection with the graft scandal, is Judge J. B. North of Riverside, the attorney for the Adams-Phillips Company, bankers for the Home Telephone Company in Los Angeles. Judge North is on his way to this city, having been subpoenaed along with A. B. Case, president of the Home Telephone Company; J. S. Torrance, who financed the corporation in the Southland; and J. H. Adams of the Adams-Phillips Company, who has been called back from Los Angeles.

'THOU SHALT NOT KILL'

State Asks Death Penalty

NEW YORK, April 10.—Jerome concluded at 3:48 p. m. and Justice Fitzgerald's charge to the jury commenced.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Jerome said:

"This is simply a common, vulgar, everyday tenderloin homicide."

"Would you, gentlemen, acquit a cold-blooded, cowardly murder upon the ground of dementia Americana?"

Jerome referred to Thaw's much-discussed letters to Attorney Longfellow as "the erratic and vulgar productions of Ach and Henny" said that they would submit such authorities.

Henny said that it was the intent of Elisor Biggy to allow that liberty to Mr. Ruef.

Ach wanted to know if any person whom the accused would be permitted to do so, and Chief Justice Beatty said that, as Ruef's attorney, Ach could give that to any such person to be handed to the elisor and if, there was not some very good reason for a request, he would grant it.

He would grant it to any such person to be handed to the elisor and if, there was not some very good reason for a re-

JEROME DEMANDS LIFE OF THAW AS A FORFEIT FOR KILLING WHITE

ORDERED AT 1 P. M TO 2 O'CLOCK WHEN MR JEROME WILL PROCEED.

NEW YORK, April 10—All previous crowds were insignificant compared to that which stormed the courtroom doors this morning in an effort to hear District Attorney Jerome sum up the State's case against Harry K Thaw, slayer of Stanford White.

Court did not convene until 11:30 and two hours before that time the advance guard of spectators began to arrive and took up positions of vantage in the corridors leading to the court room so as to be among the first to be admitted when the doors were opened. The police however, were prepared for the rush and kept the doors closed until 11 o'clock. But this did not prevent a large number of favored friends from getting into the courtroom before that hour. Court attendants employed the side doors leading to the anteroom, to good advantage and so when the main entrance was opened the trial room was almost filled.

GREAT SCENE

The small enclosure in front of the judge's bench was also taxed to its utmost capacity by the friends and assistants of the district attorney, and altogether the scene in the courtroom when Mr Jerome rose to address the jury was one of interest in expectancy and suppressed excitement.

In the corridors the scenes were most stirring. Scores of disappointed men and women made an onslaught upon the police in a last effort to pass, only to be repulsed and fairly dragged back from the entrance. Men with imagined influence pleaded with the officers, cajoled, begged and threatened, but all in vain.

THAW FAMILY ARRIVE

About five minutes before the session was begun members of the Thaw family began to arrive. The first to enter was Josiah Thaw, accompanied by the Countess of Yarmouth. Mrs Carnegie and her husband were next. Mrs Edward Thaw and Evelyn Thaw followed quickly and the elder Mrs Thaw came last. All looked hopeful and confident.

At 11:35 Justice Fitzgerald took his seat upon the bench, the jury was brought in and Harry K Thaw called to the bar.

"GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY," SAID MR JEROME, "WHEN THE COURT HAD OPENED, 'FROM ALL I CAN JUDGE FROM THE PAPERS, I HAVING BEEN ABSENT—YOU HAVE BEEN WANDERING THROUGH A MEKE FIELD OF ROMANCE FOR TWO DAYS THE LIFE OF A HUMAN BEING IS NOT TO BE JUDGED ON SUCH PREMISES."

"The issues here cannot be determined by quotations from the Scriptures. You have been enjoined by the court to make up your verdict solely from the evidence."

"The attorneys for the defense have had the responsibility of a human life resting upon them. But there has been a responsibility equally grave upon the prosecution."

"The law is not a cruel law. It does not punish for the mere sake of punishment. It punishes to protect those who live under it."

NO EASY TASK

"Important as it is that no human life should be put out unjustly it is equally important to the community in which you and I dwell that the law shall be justly upheld."

"I, gentlemen, have had no easy task. If in the heat of the battle I have transcended the courtesy due to counsel, I will beg you to overlook it. If in the judgment of the court I have gone further than I should have gone in making certain statements in court, I have nothing but regret for it. This is a time for us all to lay aside our animosities. The issue here is not to be determined upon my personality or upon that of the counsel of the defense."

ISSUE OF THE PEOPLE.

"Keep clearly in mind that while the defendant's counsel stand for the defendant individually, there is another side, the side of the people, of whom you are a part. This is no action between the executors of Stanford White and this defendant. IT IS NOT A TRIAL TO DETERMINE WHETHER EVELYN NESBIT WAS RAVISHED BY STANFORD WHITE.

It is an issue between the people of New York State and Harry Thaw, and it is to determine whether what he did was justifiable or excusable or whether he should be punished for it."

I will assure you that, not upon the word of the counsel, but upon the evidence, you are bound by your oaths to decide this case. By this evidence I will try to point out to you that the defendant's crime was not justifiable or excusable and that he should be punished.

GRAND JURY INDICTMENT

"You are not entitled to say that this man is guilty because the grand jury indicted him for murder in the first degree, but you are entitled to consider that on the records they said the unexplained evidence justified them in charging him with murder in the first degree."

Mr Jerome went briefly into the law covering the various classes into which homicide is divided, describing each.

"If you find that this defendant was insane when he killed White it is your duty to say so in your verdict. If you do not say so it is because you believe that this crime was justifiable. Justifiable homicide does not mean dementia Americana, it means self defense. But when a man sits with his head in his hands and is deliberately shot with a pistol held so close to him that after the shooting the victim's own brother-in-law did not recognize him, it can hardly be called self defense cast of the Mississippi River."

There can be logically but one of four verdicts returned by you—murder in the first degree because there was not only design, but premeditation; murder in the second degree, because there was design but no premeditation; manslaughter because the was neither design nor premeditation, but merely the heat of passion or lassitude, not guilty because of insanity."

"Gentlemen of the jury it is for counsel to appeal to you as they themselves see their duty. To me the duty points only to an appeal upon the evidence in the court. Counsel should not inject other things into this case. An effort to inflame your passions and to turn your minds from the issue in this trial to another case is not considered the duty of counsel on the Atlantic seaboard."

"Your oath binds you to render your verdict upon the evidence and that alone. You must reach your verdict purely and plainly in an intellectual process as you would dispose of a problem in geometry, an equation in algebra, or a sum in arithmetic. You are to be the sole judge of this issue as you are to judge by the facts. You must take the law as the court gives it to you."

"If we are going into the question of sympathy in this trial it can be played upon both sides. Have you thought of the widow in Cambridge and the fatherless boy in Harvard? I mention this that you may see the question of sympathy has naught to do with the issues here."

Mr Jerome next quoted at length from the examinations of the twelve jurors remanding them of their oaths and what they had promised. Whether you believe the story told by this girl whether or not you believe in the subtle renunciation she made of Thaw's offer of marriage your sympathies are bound to assert themselves in one form or another. There is here every element to arouse your passion. You can't help it. But when you return to consider your verdict you must lay it aside and guide yourselves solely by intellectual processes."

AS TO INSANITY.

Mr Jerome discussed the question of reasonable doubt. He said it was such a doubt as a man would act upon in matters pertaining to his own private affairs and nothing more.

It must be a doubt of which you are reasonably certain. A reasonable doubt is not a mere whim.

On the subject of insanity you were carefully examined. You swore you would not inject any ideas of your own into your judgment but take the law as it was laid down to you. You swore you would accept only that form of insanity which deprives a man of the knowledge of the nature of his act or that it is wrong. You did not swear to bring this dementia Americana into the case.

Such a notion of dementia Americana was uttered by Mr Jerome with a sarcastic inflection.

Dementia Americana men he said is no place in your verdict. You swore to take no higher law than the law of our state.

WORTHLESS LIFE.

Dementia Americana—what is the dementia Americana which waits and glares at its enemy for three years and then kills.

It waits three long years and grows bitter and then strikes.

Dementia Americana—that flaunts the woman for whom it kills through the capitals of Europe for two years as its mistress. Is that the higher law?

No gentlemen the higher law does not hing itself under the hem of a woman's skirt.

Dementia Americana—is that the law which puts a woman up to tell of her shame—or misfortune as the case may be—to all the world in the hope it will shield a worthless life the people's just demand?

That is not the kind of law you want to accept; and if you do it men you violate your oaths.

Mr Jerome took up the evidence of the witnesses upon the direct case and with the aid of a diagram showed the jury how Thaw moved about the room before and after the shooting. He referred to the testimony of James Clinch Smith.

Do you remember the Truxton Park case of two men and a woman? Then asked him.

Perhaps gentlemen my learned friend from the Pacific slope remembers it; perhaps he remembers that case of dementia Americana.

IN THE ROOF GARDEN.

Thaw walked deliberately across the roof garden and in such a manner that his enemy would have no chance to defend himself; then turned suddenly and holding the pistol so close to Stanford White's head that after he was dead, Mr. Smith, his mother-in-law did not know him but use of the pistol was fired once twice three times.

Mr Jerome picked up the pistol from the table as he held the words punctuating them by pulling the trigger. It turned out that he had shot the man who had barred him from his room. When he did not kill the man who he loved it was their duty to kill all the representatives of the law but they knew that under the law that the act was wrong.

What men then took up the testimony of Evelyn Thaw that he was efficient. He spoke with much vehemence in defense of Stanford White and his words fairly bristled with sarcasm when he had occasion to refer to Thaw as the modern St. George and Evelyn Thaw as The Child Angel.

MR JEROME'S GIFT.

White he designated as a man of position in the community and a genius. He pointed out that there was not a particle of evidence to show that White made any insidious advances toward Evelyn after coming into her life that he dazzled her childish mind with rich gifts but on the contrary he helped her only by presents of necessary wearing apparel. White he declared never plied the girl with wine for herself admitted that he never permitted her to drink more than one glass.

Mr Jerome rounded out his defense of White with the declaration that a man may not be virtuous he may be unchaste but it is not necessary that he is a brute.

The District Attorney dwelt at length upon the occurrences in the Twenty-fourth street studio as related by Evelyn upon the witness stand and pointed out what he declared were many serious discrepancies in her narrative.

He laid great stress on the fact that although the girl could remember what transpired during her journeys through Europe she could not fix the time within three months when she claimed she was outraged by Stanford White.

He characterized one occurrence in the studio as most extraordinary particularly as she the victim was a member of the Floradora chorus.

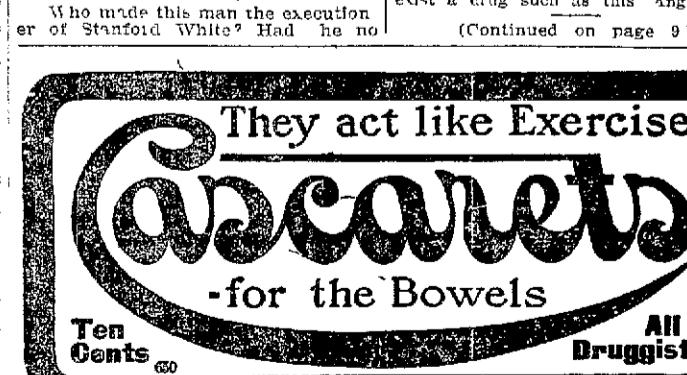

It can hardly be conceived that this chorus girl should be dragged into a den and there attacked.

DOORS WERE CLOSED.

Mr Jerome referred to the offer of the defense to allow the prosecution to contradict Evelyn's testimony and then declared that when he made a move to avoid himself of it the doors were closed.

I called a learned chemist. The District Attorney continued to prove to you that there does not exist a drug such as this Angel child.

COURT SENDS RUEF BACK TO ELISOR BIGGY'S CARE

fusal the person bearing the note would be permitted to see Ruef.

Ach asked if the door of the room in which Ruef might be consulting—with counsel or business men could not be closed.

WANT THE LAW.

Chief Justice Beatty said the court would not rule in that detail but such conferences were to be out of the sight and hearing of the attendants.

This disposition of the case was made after the reading of the affidavits of Henry and Biggy in the case which are elsewhere summarized and when in regard to those affidavits, Ach more and declared that those instruments did not answer the allegations in the petition.

Chief Justice Beatty and Justice Henshaw held that the allegations of the petition had been fully covered.

Ach then offered to submit testimony in the matter. It was then the chief justice declared that no testimony would be taken that the question of the elisor was what they wanted light on and on which they would consider authorities cited.

THE HEARING.

The hearing on the writ of habeas corpus for A. Ruef, who is on trial in the Superior Court before Judge Dunn, on the charge of extortion, came up before the Superior Court this morning, as follows: Chief Justice Beatty, Justices Stagg, Angelotti, Henshaw, McFarland, Shaw and Lorigan.

The defendant was present and was attended by his counsel, Henry Ach, Judge Farrell and Francis Murphy. He was in custody of Elisor J. Biggy and Detective Burns, U. S. Marshal Shine.

Ruef seeks to be discharged from the custody of the elisor and either remanded to the custody of Sheriff O'Neill who stands disqualifed to act as custodian of the accused, because some weeks ago when Ruef should have appeared for trial in Judge Dunn's court, he failed to report. Sheriff O'Neill was ordered to report Ruef when he was declared a fugitive from justice. Sheriff O'Neill was disqualifed from having anything to do with him and I. J. Biggy was appointed elisor to apprehend Ruef and bring him before the court for trial.

Biggy succeeded in both respects and since that time, Ruef has been in Biggy's custody by order of Judge Dunn. It is for relief from that order that Ruef has applied to the Supreme Court.

The State was represented by Attorney Francis J. Heney, the leader in the graft prosecution. Attorney Cobb and Attorney Hiram Johnson.

Among the auditors was Rudolph Spreckels who is backing the prosecution in a financial manner.

The hearing on the opening of the proceedings was 10 o'clock. At 10:20, twenty minutes passed before the Justices took their places on the bench.

Attorney Heney read the answer of Elisor Biggy to the writ issued by the Supreme Court which set forth among a number of things the fact that Ruef was in the custody of the elisor for the reason of two orders issued by Judge Dunn of the Superior Court. The attachment which was served upon Ruef was also read and this was followed by the reading of an order of Justice Dunn fixing the house at 249 Fillmore as the place in which Biggy was to keep Ruef pending the trial of the latter.

BIGGY'S AFFIDAVIT.

Heney then read an affidavit of Biggy setting forth the appointment of the last as elisor and that he had in turn appointed seven deputies to aid in keeping Ruef in custody. Biggy denied that he had done nothing else other than treat men's diseases for seventeen years. If your case is curable we will treat you. If it isn't we will not.

If we treat you we will wait for our free consultation.

Charles O'Neill was handed a stiff sentence this morning by Justice Smith in Department One of the police court. Two charges were on the calendar, one for intoxication, one for battery. The court imposed a $6 or three days sentence for drunkenness and four months in the city jail for the battery charge.

O'Neill was convicted of a charge of beating Mrs. C. Norbile, an old woman, until her head was full of cuts and wounds and bruises. He then, the police say, shoved her down stairs, causing her to break her leg. She is now in the county hospital. O'Neill has been in jail two months, the fracas having taken place February 17.

Far from being overworked or underpaid, the milliners say that they have ability, leisure, and money enough to go ahead and do something to aid the movement, to better the condition of the girls in other walks of life, who might not be faring as well as they.

Mrs. M. Ernest, a well-known Oakland milliner, and one of the first to attack Dr. Dille as to his remarks, has charge of the plans for the play. The time for the play has not yet been announced, but it is planned for an early date in May.

MILLINERS ARE TO HELP GIRLS

Echo of Dr. Dille's Remarks Is Heard When Ladies Announce Intention.

Dr. Dille's famous arraignment of the Oakland milliners has not passed from notice as yet. The milliners have again been brought to public attention by action taken by a number of the leading milliners to produce a play, using their own talents to aid the fund raised by the Oakland Committee of Three Hundred for the purchase of the Player home, at Fourteenth and Castro streets.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS CLEAR UP BIG MYSTERY

Body Passes Ordinance Rechristening Names of Many Streets--Other Matters of Importance.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Board of Public Works, all members were present when called to order at 10:55 o'clock.

The first matter to come up was changing of front of the Sparks building at the corner of Sixteenth street and Telegraph avenue. The contractors asked to be allowed to use windows and doors and entrances instead of iron. The building being inside the fire limits objection was raised by Mayor Mott, but he said he did not want to be unreasonable in his position. He was willing to grant permission if it could legally be done, but he thought the board was powerless.

City Attorney McElroy decided the board could grant the permission and it was granted.

EXPLANATION DELAY.

Engineer Boggs of the Oakland Traction Company was before the Board of Public Works this morning. He explained why delays had been had in completing work on several streets. He said rails and material had been delayed in transit and this was one reason.

Relative to rock being used in macadamizing between the tracks, Mayor Mott asked Boggs why it appeared so soft. This was answered by saying the rock had mixed dirt with the rock and this worked soft, but the rock itself and made good streets. The rock was hard but the dirt was soft, detracting the compactness of the road.

Mayor Mott asked if it was not possible to have construction trains run at hours when crowds were not congregated on the corners. He thought they should be run late at night or in the day time when people were not going home. Mr. Boggs replied this was outside of his jurisdiction but would take it up with the superintendent and the matter would be satisfactorily arranged. Mayor Mott said he appreciated the great work being done by the company and the conference today was to get together.

CLEAR UP MUDDLE.

This morning the Board of Public Works recommended the following ordinance to the Council: The ordinance clears up duplications of street names and makes the streets more uniform. Following is the ordinance:

The names of the following streets in the City of Oakland are hereby changed, respectively, and shall be known and designated as hereinafter set forth, to wit:

Second avenue between College avenue and the eastern boundary line of the City of Oakland is changed to Shaffer avenue.

Third avenue between College avenue and the eastern boundary line of the City of Oakland is changed to LaFave avenue.

Fifty-seventh street between Adeline street and San Pablo avenue is changed to Allene street.

Fifty-eighth street between Adeline street and San Pablo avenue is changed to Fifty-seventh street.

Superior street, between the fire alarm and police building, asked the Board of Public Works today for permission to buy proper instruments for locating underground cable trouble. He said the instruments would cost $300. The board voted to grant him permission.

GRANT MANY PERMITS.

Permits were granted by the Board of Public Works this morning as follows:

To D. J. Snel to move a three-story building across Adams street to a point 60 feet from the corner of Adams and Polk and Jackson streets. A garage to cost $6,000 will be erected there. It will be two stories high and of the Mexican type of architecture.

James Forsberg Jr., general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, is in northern California on railroad business. He is using the private car Sunset.

ACT ON ENGINEERS' REPORT.

Acting on report of the city engineer relative to the sewer at the foot of Ninth and Tenth avenues, the Board of Public Works passed acceptance of the bid of the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Company one week. The bid amounts to $17,000, and the engineer thinks it is too high.

When this comes up next week the board will decide whether to reject the bid, re-bid for new bids or build the sewer under contract.

Harvey Beckwith, who sold the interest in the automobile ice machine left at the corner of Bush and Second streets, was given delivery today by the receiver of the estate. The machine was sent to the corporation yard in San Francisco, and Beckwith is to pay all costs when he takes the machine.

How Philanthropy Aids Vice.

Greater care should be exercised in appointing special officers for societies and authorizing them to carry arms. A case in point: In San Francisco last Saturday night Irving Kleis found his wife, who had deserted him, in company with Bernard Silberberg, under circumstances strongly indicative of undue intimacy. Silberberg drew a pistol and fired three shots at the prying husband, his bad marksmanship alone preventing murder. It transpires that Silberberg had, only a few hours prior to the shooting, been sworn in as a special officer of the Humane Society and authorized to carry arms. The inference is that he did this to cloak himself with the mantle of the law in case of collision with the man whose marital rights he was invading. It is obvious that a man carrying on an illicit amour with a married woman is no fit person to be delegated with police authority or be an accredited officer of the Humane Society. It seems, however, that Silberberg had no trouble in getting himself sworn in as a special officer of the society.

It will be recalled in Oakland that a lecherous and corrupt scoundrel, who was afterwards sent to State prison, served for several years as secretary and executive agent of the Society for the Prevention of Vice. This man was a hypocrite and sycophant who made the noble society whose confidence he abused the cloak and authority for his infamies. He was constantly doing the same things he was pretending to suppress, and while drawing pay from the society was gratifying his base passions by methods even more despicable than those of the ordinary libertine. A spy, a sneak and a blackguard by natural instinct, he played on the fear of exposure of frailties to compel compliance with his desires.

Had the society exercised due diligence and investigated the conduct of this man in a thorough, independent manner it would never have allowed him to prostitute its work to his ignoble ends. When complaints were made against him, he was immediately made acquainted with the identity of the complainant and the nature of the complaint. If he did not have some shameful secret of the complainant to reveal, he trumped up a false one for the occasion. As his victims were usually girls who had temporarily strayed from the path of virtue he was always armed with a weapon to defend himself and strike down those who resisted his designs or complained of his baseness. For years the society refused to take charges up and sift them thoroughly, unknown to their scoundrel agent, when an investigation of the proper sort would have made clear the infamy of his conduct. So the wretch was allowed for years to prey upon vice and misfortune, and to make a hideous mockery of the philanthropy he ostensibly served, until his own brazen hardihood brought on exposure and punishment.

While this particular case was an aggravated one, it was by no means isolated. Cunning frauds are always trying to foist themselves on societies whose activities afford opportunities for graft and blackmail, and by reason of the neglect of proper precaution benevolent and philanthropic organizations are frequently imposed upon by plausible rascals who cloak their baseness by a pretense of piety and virtue. In the San Francisco instance it appears that the imposter merely wanted the color of legal right to murder a husband in case he interfered with the debauchery of his wife. But it is no part of the business of the Humane Society to afford a cowardly lothario such a privilege.

The City Council has resolved to stand by Mayor Mott. Now let all hands stand by Oakland and everybody will be happy.

Spring was a little late coming, but when she did arrive she landed with both feet. The weather is idyllic.

Secretary Root's alleged disgruntlement over the President's partiality to the Presidential aspirations of Secretary Taft does not appear to be justified. The third-term boom and the Hughes boom in New York seem to present more formidable obstacles to Root's ambition than the Taft boom in Ohio.

Dr. Andrew D. White, former Ambassador to Germany, sounds a warning against the annexation of Cuba. He says the island has a race problem more difficult of solution than the one we already have. Dr. White is right. Hawaii and the Philippines furnish all the task in the way of benevolent assimilation that we can conveniently handle without taking in Cuba and San Domingo.

Perhaps it would expedite the course of justice if Henry Ach and Hiram Johnson would settle their differences in a twenty-four foot ring, leaving the court proceedings to be conducted in a decent and orderly manner. Certainly it would be a relief to a suffering public that is daily disgusted by the bickering and blatherskiting of the two attorneys.

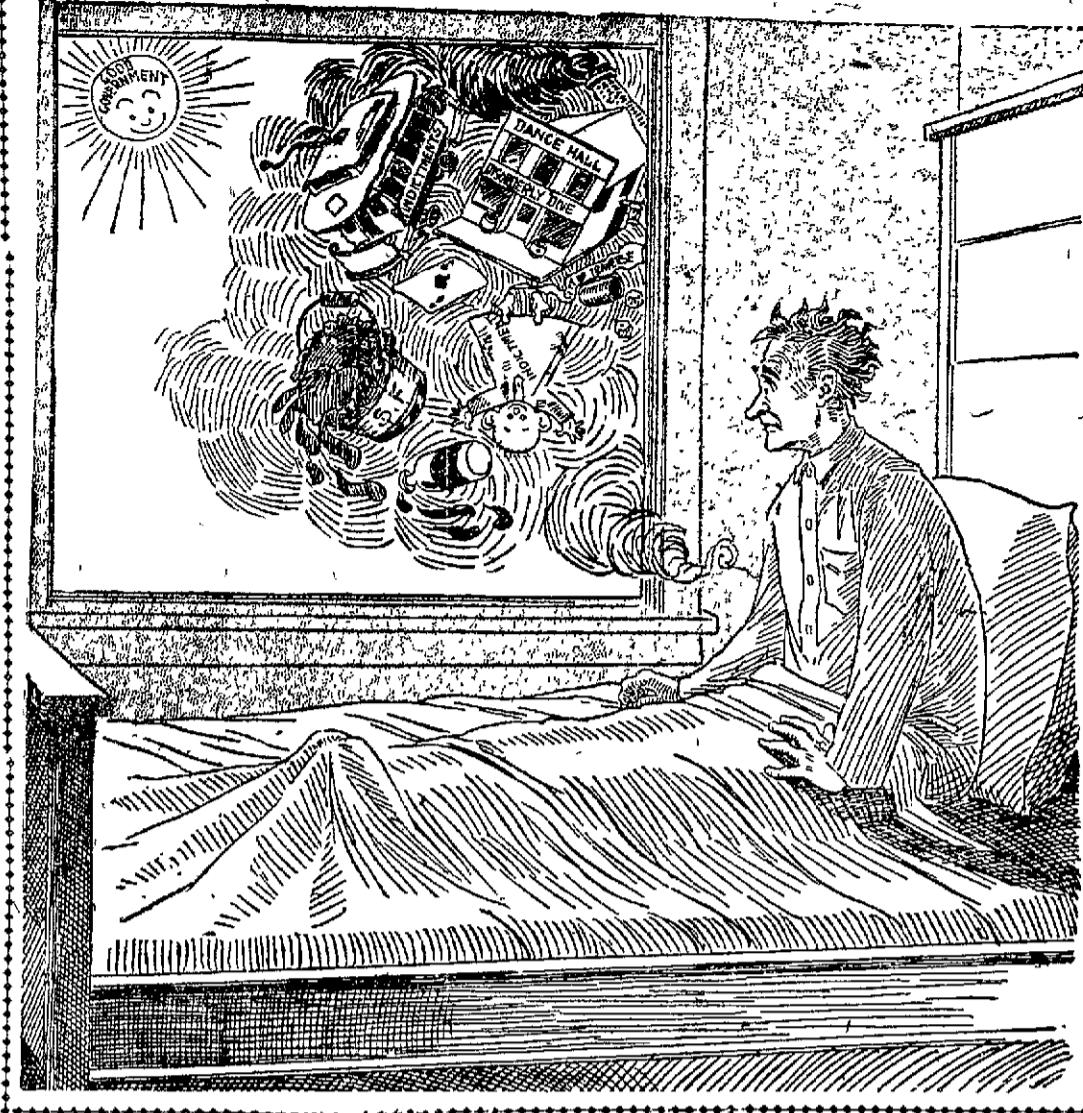

A Survey of the Situation.

Immediately after the temblor of April 18, 1906, great fear was felt that the tide of immigration pouring into California would be arrested and turned back. For a time immigration did slacken, but it soon set in again and has been gathering volume ever since. All over the State new-comers are buying land, building homes and inaugurating new enterprises. The building activity, despite the high prices of labor and materials, is unprecedented. Business is booming and values advancing. In short, California is enjoying an era of unexampled prosperity, and a development that is little short of marvelous.

All this puts to flight the predictions of the pessimists who declared eleven months ago that California had received a setback that would weigh her down for the next twenty years. The progress San Francisco has made in rebuilding is not only an evidence of recuperative power but of the irresistible impulse of settlement and development. The city did not really begin to rebuild, on account of the delay and difficulty of adjusting fire losses and questions growing out of the destruction of records, until six months after the fire, but the work done during the last five months is fairly staggering to those who believed she would be sitting in sackcloth and ashes amid her ruins for years to come. Behind the indomitable courage and resolution of her citizens is the rushing tide of prosperity that booms and throbs all over the Pacific Coast.

Los Angeles has thrived immensely, and Oakland beyond the wildest dreams of the most hopeful. For a dozen miles along the Eastern shore of the bay dwellings, factories, warehouses and business blocks are going up by the thousand. Every street and nearly every block is a scene of improvement of one kind or another. New buildings are going up on every side and the streets are full of vehicles hauling construction materials. Bank deposits are swelling and the sea commerce having its headquarters in San

S. F. CITIZEN—"MY, WHAT A DREAM I'VE HAD!"

Francisco bay is larger than ever before. The wealth and population of the entire State is increasing by leaps and bounds.

San Jose and Santa Rosa suffered more severely from the seismic calamity than did any other community, but those thriving cities are bustling with business and building activity. Their rehabilitation is fairly complete, and while they have been restoring the ravages of nature's devastation they have inaugurated new schemes of improvement and adornment.

Santa Cruz, the charming summer capital of California, is a very catapult of energy. Nowhere else has there been a greater display of enterprise, a more pervasive and optimistic enthusiasm. This summer it will be more beautiful, more inviting than at any time in its history, and will doubtless be visited by a greater number of people than during any previous season.

This is a brief resume of conditions one year after the seismic convulsion of last April. It presents a most encouraging outlook. It proves that nothing can stop the growth of this State. California is still the land of golden sunshine, golden fruit and golden opportunity.

Infamies of a Noble Profession.

The ministry excepted, the law is held to be the noblest of the professions. Yet its practice imposes some despicable tasks, licenses some atrocious outrages on the decencies of civilized life. In defense of a criminal a lawyer seems to think himself justified in reviling and calumniating the dead (evolving to every sentiment of manly decency), casting shame and dishonor upon the innocent (helpless women and aged men, perhaps), attacking the veracity and integrity of honorable men and women; twisting, distorting and belying the truth and glorifying deeds of the foulest description. And this dastard work is done for hire. The assassin of the body may be actuated by hate, jealousy or a sense of injury, but the assassin of character—the lawyer who defends the criminal in court—assails deliberately and in cold blood the truth and honor of the dead and of the living and the witnesses called to testify in behalf of justice and law. He earns his fee by stabbing reputations, wounding sensibilities and holding up to scorn and obloquy persons who never gave him offense and whose only crime is giving testimony against villains under command of the officers of the law.

The man who insults and traduces womanhood is rightly held to be a low, base fellow. Yet the honorable profession of the law permits women to be reviled and calumniated in court as the vilest of outcasts by lawyers employed to defend wretches who assault women. To befool the memory of the dead, to wrong a man in his grave by false and malignant accusation is regarded as one of the most loathsome violations of the decencies of life. Yet lawyers do it every day—not for malice, but for pay. The ordinary citizen who libels his neighbor can be called to an account before the law, but the lawyer has immunity for what he says in court. He is licensed to commit moral assassination.

A DESERT ELEGY.

The burro tolls the knell of parting day,
And with his tail shies one lone fly away,
Then nods his head and pricks his ears the while,
And wonders shall he walk another mile?

The silent herd winds slowly o'er the sand,
The man behind—he will not understand
That burros do not wish to climb a hill
When they might just as well be standing still.

And so the outfit plods its weary way
Into the hills, where precious metals may
Lie buried; and these hills are just ahead,
But tired burros might as well be dead.

So, as the sun behind the hill drops down,
The burros cease their toil and turn around,
And with one last and long despairing bray
Lie down to rest until another day.

The makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for the cure of weak, nervous, run-down, over-worked, debilitated, pain-racked women, knowing this medicine to be made up of ingredients, every one of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the leading and standard authorities of the several schools of medical practice, are not afraid to print, as they do, the list of ingredients, of which it is composed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper.

The formula of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will bear the most critical examination of medical experts, for it contains no alcohol, no injurious or deleterious substances, nothing to distract women even in small quantities when long continued. LOVELIEST ARMS

IN ALL ALAMEDA COUNTY

ARTISTIC ARRAY OF SHAPELY TYPES

Next Sunday an entire page of THE TRIBUNE is to be occupied by views of arms of feminines of the county of Alameda. The showing will reflect credit on the spirit of enterprise which prompted this newspaper to exploit that field of investigation.

In the display of arms to be disclosed on that day there will be two different phases to be noted—first, the quality of arm, contour and general beauty; and second, the matter of pose, style of attitude of the respective subjects. In a minor degree this question of symmetry of limb and its correlative proposition, grace of position, are exemplified in each day's issue of this newspaper by a picture which has been contributed by some girl or woman who is a candidate for the committee's judicial approval. These single, separate illustrations are to be grouped with all other depictions at the close of the tournament, and the work of comparison will then be made easy for that auxiliary board of examiners—the many thousands of regular and occasional readers of THE TRIBUNE.

It must be admitted that the fair sex of this county has manifested robust appreciation of the undertaking to assemble a really representative indication of the beauty of build of the womanhood of this section of California. Already, several hundreds of maids and matrons have volunteered to make the venture a success. There is no doubt but that the climax of this exposition of arms will furnish an artistic spectacle which will command the attention and admiration of people as far away as Melbourne or London.

A farmer's wife living near Niles in the county writes: "Your offer to present one dozen pairs, or $60 worth of silk stockings to the female having the shapeliest arm is going to cause some of us down here to enter into rivalry with the city folks. As for my cards for a reception to be given at her Piedmont home next Wednesday afternoon, April 17. The complimented guest will be Miss Jessie Fox, the popular bride-elect."

self, I think my wisest course

ture of Miss Bessie Meyers, a competitor for the gloves or hose, will be to strive to get that box of gloves you are to bestow for the most artistic pose.

I certainly am confident that my hands, wrists, arms, shoulders and neck are not inferior to the average person's, and probably are a great deal more statuesque, so to speak. However, the posing alternative seems my strongest hold. I shall be in town Saturday, and so kindly send me a Shaw & Shaw order."

THE TRIBUNE regrets that due credit was not allowed to Bushnell's in yesterday's issue, because of a flaw in the prints under the elegantly executed picture of Miss Bessie Meyers, a competitor for the gloves or hose.

Bushnell's is co-operating with this journal to make the best-arm show a grand triumph, and that studio has been about "swamped" with patronage supplied from this source. For some days it has been necessary to authorize re-recruits to sit for portraits at the society photoists, Shaw & Shaw.

At the production of Alfred Sutro's play, "John Glayde's Honor," at the St. James' theater, London, the dresses worn by ladies in the cast were lavish. The curtain rises on the beautiful room, in the Paris flat, where three perfectly-gowned women are seated at the delightfully appointed dinner table, with its lace cloth, gold plate, and bowls and low vases of deeply pink sweet peas. Miss Eva

Moore—the hostess—wears a gown of soft satin veiled with net whose elusive coloring blands the most delicate shades of gray, blue and green, and whose filmy folds are eventually bordered with satin. It is all embroidered with a design of trailing ribbons and blossom, and flower-filled baskets in gold and silver thread, softly shaded green, pink and blue, and lightly showered diamonds. A touch or two of soft gray-green velvet, a shimmer of silver tissue, and some filmy lace complete the details of this lovely dress.

Miss Henrietta Watson's gown is a lovely study in pink, its soft silk elaborately embroidered in gold, with corals clustering like berries, and the gracefully draped bodice being arranged with a softness of net, where a golden trelliswork is set with single corals. A lace of corals crown-es the dark hair, and a couple of great emeralds in the necklace make an effective color contrast. Miss Gwendolyn

Floyd, as representing the artistic element, wears a wonderful empire

gown, where gray satin with veillings of black and blue chiffon produce an exquisite clair-de-lune effect, the final veiling of the filmy fabrics being embroidered with aluminum and opalescent paillettes. Bordering the draperries of skirt and sleeves is a band of black interwoven with silver, and the empire band of softest satin is clasped

by a great buckle of vividly blue enamel, where countless tiny rubies blaze out and great opals are studded;

while for background there are loops of pink and silver tissue, which suggest the rosiness of early dawn.

"I don't know what the trouble is," said the hostess in a tone of great annoyance. "My guests seem very distant and unscal. I wish I could think of some way to start them talking to one another."

"That's easily done," answered Miss

Sharp. "Is there a musician present?"

"Yes."

"Then get him to play or sing something."

REIGNING PARIS FASHIONS.

In a letter which has just been received by me from Paris there is enclosed this "dernier cri" on fashions: "The empire style still prevails for evening dresses, but very few figures can stand this without some modification. Long streamers of velvet or ribbon hang from the shoulders, and berthes and fichus soften the bodices. A good many of the dresses show a mixture of color. Chiffon and gauze are trimmed with bands of velvet or rich embroidery, in colors in harmony with the dress itself. Pointed berthes agree with the tuckers that everybody now wears, and there is a great feeling for fichus of all kinds, which overdrap the top of the sleeves, having three small bows at the back and buckles brought forward on the other front, secured by buttons, generally jewelled. Sometimes a gossamer spangled stuff is thrown over a lace skirt, while pale colored chiffons are lined with gold and silver cloth. Hand-painted nets and chiffons especially look well over these tinselled grounds. Soft chiffon velvets and pannés in very light colors—yellow, blues, mauves, and pinks—make beautiful evening dresses with embroidered satin berthes. White panné and chiffon velvets are having a great run. Yours ever,

"KATE."

NERVOUS WOMEN

Vinol Restored the Health of Miss Blair, President of Sophomore Club.

Miss Rose Blair, president Sophomore Club, Kansas City, writes: "Last spring I was all run down, nervous and irritable. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I tried many medicines without benefit. Your cod liver preparation, Vinol, was recommended, and it certainly worked wonders for me. It was delicious and not at all like the greasy cod liver oil and emulsions I was used to. Vinol gave me a hearty appetite and restored me to perfect health and strength."

Vinol cures conditions like this because it contains all of the nutritive elements found in cod liver without a drop of the useless oil. It upsets the stomach and retard its work, and tonic iron added, and it strengthens every organ in the body.

We ask every run-down, nervous, debilitated, aged or weak person in Oakland, and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging on coughs or bronchial troubles to try Vinol on our guarantee to return money if it fails. The Old Dr. Clark and Brooks, 10th and 16th Streets, Washington.

Note: While we are sole agents for Vinol in Oakland, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

"THE LITTLE CLAY CART" READY FOR PRESENTATION

MISS ISABEL M. REYNOLDS AND SAM HUME in "The Little Clay Cart" to be produced at the Greek Theater tonight.

Last Full-Dress Rehearsal Was Eminently Pleasant to Coachers and the Student Critics.

BERKELEY, April 10.—Whitened with the glare of scores of electric lights, the Greek theater was last night the scene of the final rehearsal of "The Little Clay Cart," the spectacular Oriental drama translated from the Sanskrit by Dr. A. W. Ryder of the University. All is in readiness for the production of the play tonight.

It will be given in the pure Hindu style and the double stage will be used. In the last act there will be a representation of an Indian bazaar and of the ceremonies in the Hindu temple, in the course of which the call to prayer at the altar of Ishvar will be recited in Sanskrit by an Indian student. It will also give the opening benediction, a parallelism to the prologue given at the opening of the Greek drama.

COACHED BY HOLME.

The production is given under the direction of the English club and has been coached by Garnet Holme. Holme has taken especial care to retain the old Hindu customs in every form, and toward this end has acted on the suggestions of Indian students in the University and the Swamis from San Francisco.

OLD TRINITY CHURCH SOLD

Methodist Property Changes Hands and Is Now Owned by "Friends."

BERKELEY, April 10.—Negotiations have been closed between A. W. Taylor, acting in behalf of the Friends' church of Berkeley, and the trustees of the old Trinity M. E. church for the purchase of the latter's edifice at Fulton street and the latter's site at Alton Way.

The transfer was negotiated through the law and realty firm of Waite, Keyes & Martin, attorneys for Trinity church. The consideration is not stated.

The Friends' congregation will move the building to a location on Fulton street, between Hazel street and Channing Way, where it has property, near the trolley line, which is now used as a house of worship. The Friends' church was built in 1877 and was sold two years ago. The building is about as good as new. Good timber was not scarce then as now, and builders were more particular in selecting. When the church was sold, it had been recently renovated and thoroughly rechristened and newly painted. It will be in every respect a credit to the congregation that owns it.

ALAMEDA, April 10.—While alighting from a Santa Clara avenue car at the corner of Walnut street Monday night, Mrs. Mary Linton sustained severe abrasions of the hands and face. Mrs. Linton was removed to Dr. J. A. Ellett's office, where she was given a thorough examination. She was later removed to her home at 351 Santa Clara avenue in an ambulance.

BERKELEY, April 10.—A seventeen-year-old boy who gave his name as Lee Lewis and his address as 29th and Adeline streets, Oakland, while riding a bicycle on the sidewalk, struck his head against the corner of Alton Way and Grove street.

Interest of Voters Centers on Cadets—Keen Competition for Banner.

ALAMEDA, April 10.—Electoral interest over considerable interest will be shown in the official canvass of the votes that will take place next Monday evening by the council. All interest centers in the selection of a councilman from the Sixth Ward. Robert Gee has 1202 votes in the returns on the sheets sent to the city clerk's office, and G. Harold Ward has 1201. Interest in this is at white heat.

Never in the history of the city has there been such a close contest. There may be a recount if the figures that are now public prove to be correct. Last night Mr. Ward stated that all he wanted was to see that the returns were correct and he would be satisfied. He said that a number of friends had advised him to resign, but he said that he had not yet decided what he would do.

The result of the fight for mayor put Mayor-elect Taylor almost in the position of a prophet. He came within fifty votes of telling what the votes would be and the figures were correct.

The social question is not a fixed condition, but a movement. Each act of social service tends to open the way, somewhat for future settlement of the question.

THAW JURY IS OUT

NEW YORK, April 10.—Flash: The Thaw Jury has retired.

QUESTION OF EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY BEING ARGUED

United States Government Now Represented in Cases to Sustain the Law's Constitutionality.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Argument was begun today in the Supreme Court of the United States in the two cases of Dasmell Howard and N. C. Brooks, involving the constitutionality of the employers' liability law, holding railroads engaged in interstate commerce responsible for damages to employees when caused by the neglect of a fellow employee or deficient appliances. The cases have attracted a great deal of attention, and in both of them the trial courts held against the validity of the statute.

BROOKS CASE.

In the Brooks case Mrs. N. C. Brooks, a citizen of Kentucky, brought suit against the Southern Pacific in the United States Circuit Court for the western district of Kentucky to recover $25,000 damages owing to the death of her son killed in an accident while employed as a locomotive fireman on a Southern Pacific train in Nevada. The case was tried before Judge Evans, a former member of Congress, who held the law to be unconstitutional, both because it does not fall within the scope of the authority given to Congress to regulate interstate commerce and at the same time it undertakes to regulate commerce within the State.

HOWARD CASE.

In the Howard case the suit was for $20,000 damages occasioned by the accidental killing of the plaintiff's husband while serving as a fireman on the Illinois Central railroad near Memphis.

The case was tried before Judge McCall in the United States Circuit Court, northern district of Tennessee, who also held the law to be invalid upon two grounds that liability for accident cannot be regulated under the commerce clause of the constitution, and that even if it could be, the authority would not extend to the regulation of its employees.

Interstate commerce which he asserted was unaffected by the law.

The government was not at first a party to either of the suits, but since the law has been attacked, it has intervened and the department of justice will be represented in the argument. The attorney general has filed an exhaustive brief in the case in which he strenuously upholds the law.

GOVERNMENT'S BRIEF.

Upon the point as to whether Congress has the power to regulate the instrumentality of interstate commerce, the attorney general argues that this legislation is in line with the regulation of interstate commerce itself, and asserts that the courts have frequently recognized the power to regulate the liability of common carriers.

"It is difficult to proceed," he says, "to see why if Congress may regulate the liability of common carriers and others engaged in interstate commerce to strangers, it may not regulate the liability of their employers, the providers of interstate commerce, bearing as much involved in one case as in the other."

HIS ARGUMENT.

"It would be strange, indeed, if it should be held that Congress can protect everything and everybody connected with interstate commerce—the carriers, the passengers, the shippers, the shippers themselves—but could not protect the person employed to carry it on those that bear the burden of the day. From the foundation of the government the power of Congress to regulate interstate and foreign commerce has been exercised, except in the regulation of the instrumentalities which such commerce is conducted, and the regulation of such instrumentalities to include control over the persons operating them."

APPLYING LAW.

With reference to the applicability of the law to railroad employees whose duties are confined to their place of work, "It is the carrier and not its employees that the act aims to regulate and the carrier is subject to such regulations because it is engaged in interstate commerce. It is submitted that Congress can make a carrier liable to any one for negligence who is affected by it, and if they can do that, necessarily it can make such carrier liable to all of its employees."

HASSE ACTION IS DISMISSED

SENTENCED TO SERVE 3 YEARS

Prosecution Satisfied No Conviction Can Be Obtained In Case.

Satisfied after three trials that he would not be able to obtain a conviction in the case of Otto L. Hasse, the former manager of the Central News Store, who was accused of padding the county's stationary bills to the extent of about $1000. Assistant District Attorney W. H. L. Hynes asked that the action be dismissed this morning, and his request was granted by Superior Judge Melvin.

Hasse has been tried on indictments returned against him by the grand jury about two years ago. On the last trial in January of this year, the jury found him guilty of three counts.

GOOD JURIES.

"We have had good juries on all three trials," said Assistant District Attorney Hynes this morning, "and am sure that we could do no better on another trial. If I thought there was a possibility of there being a definite decision, the day after the trial, I would be willing to go ahead. If I thought there would be an acquittal, I would be ready to go on with the case, but as it is I am sure there will never be a decided action. Everytime the case is tried it costs the county about $1000 or $1500 and I do not like to see the county funds being spent in this way, when it results in no good."

"This case has convinced the county officials that there should be better selections made in the purchasing of county supplies," said Superior Judge Melvin in dismissing the case.

FIVE INDICTMENTS.

Hasse was accused in five indictments of padding county stationary bills. The bills were gone over by Grand Jury Expert John M. Sabin, who detected the altered overcharges for which the grand jury returned indictments. Hasse was tried on one of the charges, which was as strong as any of the five.

DEFENDED BY BURKE.

Attorneys Lin S. Church and J. J. Burke, the latter the late assemblyman, defended Hasse in all his trials. This morning when Hasse appeared in court, Attorney Church was with him.

A consultation was held by Judge Melvin, Attorney Lin S. Church, District Attorney Brown and his assistant, Hynes, who prosecuted Hasse. At the conclusion of the conference in the judge's chambers, Hynes asked that the case be dismissed and his motion was granted immediately by the court.

STRIKE STILL IN PROGRESS

Conditions Remain Unchanged in Laundry Trouble—Seven Employers Sign Agreement.

The situation in the laundry strike still remains unsettled. Only seven laundries in San Francisco have signed the agreement and not one laundry firm in Alameda county has made any effort to come to an amicable settlement. The laundries that signed up in San Francisco are: Hays Park, Golden Gate, Independent, Sherman, Enterprise and Two Oceans laundries.

A grave problem in the labor question will confront laundry concerns when this strike is ended, as many of the laundry workers are seeking employment in other parts of the State and there will consequently be a scarcity of laundresses and laundrymen in Alameda county.

In case of financial distress among the laundry workers the Central Labor Council will give material aid.

Austin Lewis, the well-known Socialist leader, is to address the association tomorrow morning, in which he will take sides with the laundry strikers, who, he says, are fighting for their just rights.

MURDERER CAUGHT BY LOS ANGELES POLICE TRIES TO DENY THAT HE IS INSANE

He Is Wanted in Middleton for the Murder of Two Men and a Woman.

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—A man who is believed by the police to be Charles Henry Rogers, wanted in Middleton, N. Y., for the murder of Willis Olney, Frederick Olney and Alice Ingerek, October 6, 1905, was arrested on the streets yesterday and taken to the city jail. He was pointed out to a patrolman by a man who claimed to know him.

No complete identification has been made but the police have compared the man under arrest with photographs and descriptions of Rogers and they are positive that they have the right man. The New York authorities have been notified and the suspect will be held pending word from them. The arrest of Rogers has been kept a secret by the local police.

MAKES A DENIAL.

To the police Rogers strenuously denied his identity, maintaining that his name was Charles H. Carpenter. Today, however, he admitted to the Associated Press that his name was Charles Henry Rogers and that his home was in Middleton, N. Y. He declined to admit that he knew anything of the murder of which he is accused.

Rogers, during the interview, contradicted himself several times in reference to his knowledge of the murder. He said he was ready to return to New York whenever they came after him.

PASSED BOGUS CHECKS.

He had uttered two checks on the First National Bank of that city for small amounts without having any funds in the bank, he said, and had left there to avoid prosecution. His wife and family were still in Middleton and he had sent them money from time to time. They had never heard anything about the murder and he claimed not to know that it had occurred.

He knew the Olney brothers well, he stated and had worked with Fred Olney on a farm near Middleton.

WORKED ON FARM.

He left Middleton on a freight train, not stopping until he got to Port Jervis. Proceeding on, he arrived at Huntington, Ind., where he worked a few days, finally resuming his journey as far as Chicago. He worked nearly a year on a farm and in town. He came to Los Angeles about a month ago and had been working as a railroad laborer. He had intended, he said, returning to Middleton this fall.

HAS LITTLE MONEY.

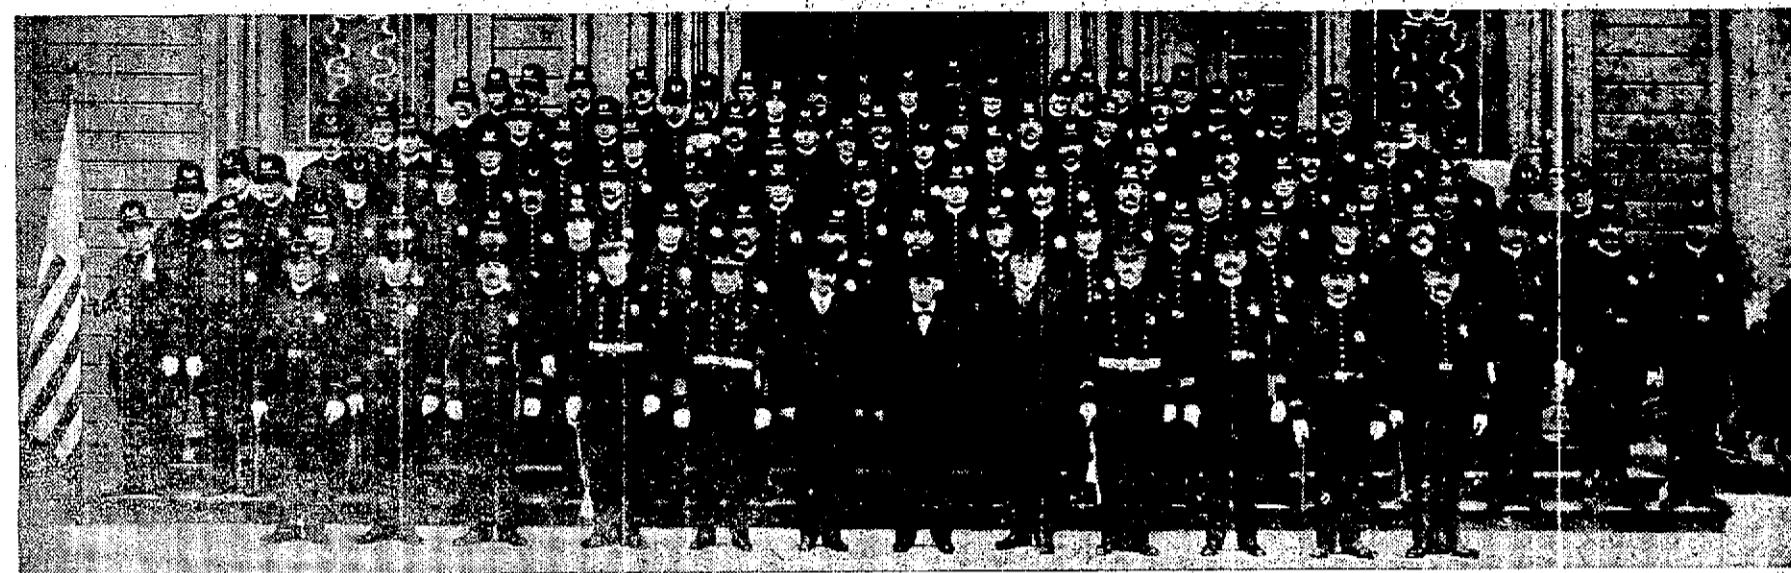

Rogers said he had but little money when he left Middleton, having given nearly all he had to his wife. He had assumed the name of Carpenter in Chicago and had corresponded with relatives in that name ever since.

Rogers, during the interview, contradicted himself several times in reference to his knowledge of the murder. He said he was ready to return to New York whenever they came after him.

ELECTION WILL DECIDE ISSUE

Congregation of Presbyterian Church to Vote for New Board of Officers.

Whether W. N. Jenkins is still to be a factor in the affairs of the First Presbyterian church of this city will be definitely decided tonight at the annual election of members of the board of trustees. Three candidates, W. L. Reed, a lumberman; Edwin Ayres, president of the People's Water Company, and L. Adams, consulting engineer of the People's Water Company, are supported by both factions. The two last names are those of incumbents, while Reed is named to take the place of Jenkins in the board of trustees. The Jenkins faction, which is headed by Charles W. Wilcox, treasurer of the First National Bank, George Kirk, connected with the Oakland Gas, Light and Heat Company; John T. Bell, real estate agent, and J. W. Holmke, merchant, is rumored that one or more of the candidates of the Jenkins faction will withdraw before the election tonight.

In refutation of the charge made by a supporter of Jenkins that the church had lost in membership since Dr. Baker took charge, a friend of the pastor said this morning:

"Within the last six years 449 new members have been added to the church.

Within the last two years 165 additions have been made. For the past year the total members of the church and its auxiliary organizations was $14,700. The expenditures amounted to $14,300. This leaves us $600 balance."

POSSIBILITIES OF A DEEP WATERWAY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 10.—Governor Deneen today sent to the legislature the report of the commission appointed by him two years ago to investigate and report on the possibility of a deep waterway between the Lakes and the Gulf. According to the report, a channel containing 18 feet of water is entirely feasible from Chicago to St. Louis. Governor Deneen recommends that legislation be enacted conferring upon the canal commission the power necessary for the development and use of the immense water power made possible by the large flow of water proposed between Lockport and Chicago. Recommendation that the state legislature make part of the revenue secured from the sale of water power shall be made to contribute the contribution of the proposed deep waterway.

DR. FRANCIS J. FLUNO'S LECTURE--

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE VS. FINITE SENSE

The Christian Science Church was filled to overflowing Sunday afternoon, with a cultured and eager audience. Fully twelve hundred people listened for an hour and forty minutes to an address by Dr. Francis J. Fluno, M. D. C. S. D. The introduction made by Mr. John A. Plummer, a prominent attorney of Stockton, was given in a convincing kindly manner, and was as follows:

"Friends and Members of One Common Brotherhood: The world needs Christian Science; needs the kind thought which goes out on its mission to heal and to save, that carries to sick, distressed and overburdened humanity a message of love and hope and good will, that finds its way into the consciousness of man as silently and gently as the falling of the dew, and teaches him how to know and understand, how to take into his daily life something deeper and higher and wider and more inclusive than the mere hand-fashioned things of men, how to break down the moss-covered walls of prejudice, how to obliterate the inhumanities of man to man by teaching him his true relation to God.

"For nineteen centuries the world waited for the second coming, waited for release from the hard and fast laws of human opinions, waited for a realization of its 'Peace be still!' And now as then, that same world would mangle and rend it in places were it not founded on the eternal rock.

"Of all this fair land of ours and reaching out to countries beyond the seas are thousands of living witnesses to this healing, uplifting strength giving truth, each one a willing volunteer, each one ready to stand up and answer aye.

"The shafts of malice, the arrows of ridicule awaken more of pity than resentment. In those who know the mental peace here vouchsafed to soul-wary, fear-tormented men Marshallled in support of immutable right the powers of love and above human nature are arrayed in the continuance of time and as unchanged as the God that cannot pass away.

"In order that the dynamite power of this thought may be better known, that jealousy and envy, hatred and ignorance may not turn away those whom it would rescue, that its purity may remain inviolate, a board of lecturers has been established to state its principles and purposes and to speak its language of wisdom gained by daily experience and years of thoughtful study. Our loved Dr. Francis J. Fluno is a member of that board and it is with a deep sense of gratitude for his kindly counsel in days gone by I now introduce to you, Dr. Fluno and our Dr. Fluno, a member of the board of lecturers of the First Church of Christ Scientist of Boston, Mass., who will talk to us this afternoon on the subject of 'Christian Science vs. Finite Sense.'

DR. FLUNO'S LECTURE.

By way of introduction let me say it is not our province, desire or course to teach Christian Science in this lecture. Christian Science is the science of being, and necessarily includes all there is of being, and is an education in itself; an education that's infinite, unlimited and inexhaustible; and not only takes months, but years and ages, and finally, eternity itself to know, understand and comprehend it.

It takes time even to begin to comprehend, or begin the study as it were, of such a subject, for since Christian Science is the science of being, it necessarily is the reverse of the sense testimony, i. e. it is the converse of the evidence of the senses, and therefore just the opposite of most people's line of thought, or way of thinking, and must of necessity take time to turn from thinking one way to thinking just the opposite way, and by what means you may obtain it for yourself.

If you were going to take up the study of mathematics you would not want a book as a text book that did not teach mathematics, but taught something like it, you would want the science of numbers itself, if you could get it, and nothing short of it.

Or, if you wished to study music, you would not apply to a teacher who taught by ear, but one who would teach from principle, and hence teach it correctly.

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TEXT-BOOK.

Likewise to begin the study of Christian Science you will need its text-book, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' by Mary Baker G. Eddy, and also other works of this author, and of the Christian Science Publishing Society in Boston, Mass.

"These books and publications together with the Bible are the only ones that Christian Scientists recognize as authority on the subject, or as Christian Science at all.

"The text-book of Christian Science, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' is a library in itself, it educates, enlightens, and refines all who come in contact with it.

AUTHOR OF TEXT-BOOK.

"The author, of rare intellectual ability, deeply religious nature, high educational attainment and a life experience which tended toward weaning her from earthly hopes and ambitions, was earthly fitted for a master-work, a priceless contribution to the age in which she lived.

"Mrs. Eddy, of celebrated English and Scottish descent, is a native of New Hampshire, and in the vicinity of Concord her family for many generations has lived, honored and respected by all.

"Mrs. Eddy is now living in Concord, in her modest quiet home, loved and esteemed by the citizens, her kinsfolk and friends.

"And I rejoice and am grateful to say that it has been my privilege to receive personal instruction from her, and confirmation, as it were, of the teachings of our text-book, 'Science and Health.'

"I shall talk to you this evening upon the subject of finite sense viewed in the light of Christian Science, or CHRISTIAN SCIENCE VERSUS FINITE SENSE.

"Finite sense has all things material and nothing spiritual. Christian Science has all things spiritual and nothing material.

"Christian Science is just the reverse of finite sense. And this is why some of the leading statements in Christian Science seem so absurd and far-fetched to the finite sense.

"And this should not seem so inconsistent and foolish, as it does to me, when I consider the Biblical teachings that against the flesh, and these are contrary the one to the other."

"And as Christian Science claims for its adherents, Paul also writes, 'Walk in the spirit and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh,' and also, 'If ye be led of the spirit ye are not under the law.'

"Christian Science teaches most emphatically that if you are led of the spirit, you are not under the material law; not under the law of matter, the law of the physical, but are under the divine law, and the more closely you walk in the spirit, the further are you removed from the mortal law.

"Hence, living according to Christian Science, we are becoming more and more freed from the bondage of the senses; more and more liberated from the thralldom of sense, that tend to keep us forever in bondage.

"Finite sense judges all things from the standpoint of appearances, while Christian Science judges all things from the standpoint of Principles. God, Jesus said, 'Judge not according to appearances, but judge righteous judgment.' (John 7:24)

"And Isaiah, in his prophecy of the coming Prince of Peace, said, 'And the spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and of might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord, and shall make him of quick understanding in the fear of the Lord, and he shall not judge after the hearing of his ears, but with righteousness; he shall judge the poor, and reprove wickedness for the meek of the earth; and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked and righteousness shall be the girdle of his robes.'

"To all this fair land of ours and reaching out to countries beyond the seas are thousands of living witnesses to this healing, uplifting strength giving truth, each one a willing volunteer, each one ready to stand up and answer aye.

"The shafts of malice, the arrows of ridicule awaken more of pity than resentment. In those who know the mental peace here vouchsafed to soul-wary, fear-tormented men Marshallled in support of immutable right the powers of love and above human nature are arrayed in the continuance of time and as unchanged as the God that cannot pass away.

"In order that the dynamite power of this thought may be better known, that jealousy and envy, hatred and ignorance may not turn away those whom it would rescue, that its purity may remain inviolate, a board of lecturers has been established to state its principles and purposes and to speak its language of wisdom gained by daily experience and years of thoughtful study. Our loved Dr. Francis J. Fluno is a member of that board and it is with a deep sense of gratitude for his kindly counsel in days gone by I now introduce to you, Dr. Fluno and our Dr. Fluno, a member of the board of lecturers of the First Church of Christ Scientist of Boston, Mass., who will talk to us this afternoon on the subject of 'Christian Science vs. Finite Sense.'

Dr. Fluno addressed the audience as follows:

JESUS' JUDGMENT NOT ACCORDING TO APPEARANCES.

"Jesus did not judge according to appearances when he met the man who had been blind from his birth; his disciples were inclined to judge from that standpoint, but they asked (John 9:2-3), 'Master, who did sin, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?'

"Jesus answered, 'Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents,' and then he proceeded to heal him.

"The woman met that man with the withered hand, he testified to give it any right, or honor in any power, but commanded that it be stretched forth, and it was restored whole, like unto the other.

"And since, according to Jesus' teachings, the sense testimony, the testimony of appearances, are not right, because not righteous, then surely it is not right for any one, and especially followers of Christ, to take them in evidence.

ETERNAL LAW ANNUALS TEMPORAL LAW.

"For Christian Science deals with eternal laws, that annual the temporal. Where two laws are in conflict one with another, the lower must give way to the higher, and the eternal laws must be in conflict with the temporal, because one is eternal and the other is temporal.

"Christian Science teaches the scientific and eternal relation of God and man.

"But man and the universe of God's creating was never seen by finite eyes. Christian Science alone can reveal the man of God, and the universe that He has made.

"And the so-called man and material universe, far from being spiritual, was never made by spirit, God, and is only of mortal mind creation, which mortal mind itself is false, and is the mere negative of being, as darkness is the negative of light.

"Hence, man in Christian Science, does not start as a pure negative, as some ever; neither is there negation or error found in him at all; for if error is found in the premise it will be found in the conclusion and a negative man must be the direct opposite of man, and hence is no man at all.

"Christian Science covers the whole ground, answers all questions, and solves all problems; it turns the search light on all physical phenomena, and all materialistic beliefs; all hypotheses, speculations, conjectures and dogmas.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE NOT SPIRITUALISM.

"Christian Science comes to the spiritualists and all who believe there are spirits many, to reveal the scientific fact that God is spirit, and since spirit, but one God, there is therefore but one spirit. And since God is spirit, and God is one, hence there are not spirits many or spirits at all; neither are there parts of spirit; God is one, undivided and indivisible; and man and the universe, representing and expressing the divine Principle or spirit, are spiritual, but not spiritual.

"Man is not spirit, for God is spirit, and man is not God. Man reflects God, or spirit; hence man is spiritual, but not spirit.

"Christian Science reveals the fact that there is no spirit in matter or body, and hence no spirit to depart from the body; therefore embodied spirits and disembodied spirits, departed spirits and spirits return are mere mortal beliefs without principle or reality.

"Christian Science shows that the so-called embodied spirits are all disembodied spirits are alike false and untrue; that both the embodied and disembodied spirits exist only as mortal beliefs, and have no more existence than the gods of mythology.

"Christian Science, the science of Life, turns the searchlight on spiritualism, mesmerism, mental suggestion, or hypnotism and animal magnetism, and many other isms and proves them to be finite sense vagaries, i. e. they will never stand the test of eternity, and consequently cannot stand the test of Christian Science.

DOES NOT TEACH MENTAL SUGGESTION.

"Many suppose that the teaching and practice of Christian Science is the concentration of mind; but that is as far from Christian Science as reading and practice at darkness is from day-light.

"Christian Science teaches there is one Mind only, and that is the mind of God; and how could man concentrate the mind of God? God already knows all things, and is Intelligence itself, whose very nature is to understand, and needs no effort at knowledge.

"And this, to the finite sense, is most emphatically true, and no one, judging from appearances would have it otherwise.

"Yet Christian Science, that judges not according to appearances, but judges righteous judgment, comes to rescue just such heavily laden ones, takes their load of ill, both mentally and physically, and they are made healthy, strong and well.

"So that even the physical sense (so-called) will, does and must acknowledge their restoration from weakness to strength, from sickness to health, from a living death to a living life.

"From the sense testimony how many hopeless invalids are today enjoying a miserable existence in a living death under the increasing load of sympathy and fear that is constantly being said to them in thought, in look and in word, 'Poor you, how ill you are.'

"And this load is very often made the heavier by the very comforting remark, 'The Lord is afflicting you for some good purpose.'

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE RESCUES FROM FALSE JUDGMENT.

"But Christian Science comes and relieves them of this terrible load, and shows them that their affliction is not of God, and is not necessary to either their spiritual, moral or physical welfare, nor yet to help them on to heaven; but as soon as they will turn to the Lord with all their heart, their sins though many, will be all forgotten, their sickness disappear, their burdens roll away, and they are well indeed."

"Christian Scientists are finding that not primarily the healing of the sick only. Neither should it be considered merely as one of the many methods of healing the sick.

"Christian Science comes to talk the world of all error. It heals of sin as well as of sickness. It heals of ignorance; every one who comes in contact with Christian Science teaching, of necessity advances in education, and never reaches that divine Mind, where no evil is known.

"And this finite or false mind is the mind in which all mesmerism, hypnotism and magnetism have their origin, and where they abound, and never reach that divine Mind, where no evil is known.

"Christian Scientists are studying Love itself; and as a consequence are learning how to love better and in a better way than they ever knew how to love before.

"They do not give up material comforts and enjoyments only as they outgrow them; and they outgrow these things through the study, understanding and knowledge of the truth as it was in Jesus.

"They do not use drug remedies, because they have found by experience and study that they are not a real benefit that they can do better for themselves and others in times of sickness than with the understanding that mind governs the body, and that sickness is not a real fact of being.

"If sickness, disease, and sin were genuine facts of being, then they could not be destroyed or eliminated. Even God himself could not destroy these things if they were absolute facts; for an absolute fact must forever remain a fact, and would be a fact throughout all eternity, and this would preclude any possibility of its destruction.

"Christian Scientists do not attempt to go without food; they are learning first how to live harmoniously and naturally, while eating and drinking material food, and living a natural life in the body. As a rule they eat three square meals a day, and digest them well; can sleep all night and get up in the morning refreshed and invigorated.

"They do not need to pick and choose, and worry themselves and their friends, than indulgence or restraint, eat or what they can and drink. Sickness is not the body, but the mind, and that sickness is not a real fact of being.

"Christian Scientists do not talk about their ills; their conversation does not turn to sickness and suffering, and all the evils of the day. They talk about that which interests them more, and which they find more elevating and helpful to themselves and others; namely, health, happiness and peace. And this, not because of any rule or by-law, but because they are the only things they find to talk about.

"Christian Science does not come to criticize any one thing more than another.

COMES TO BENEFIT ALL.

"It comes alike to all, to each and every one; the rich and the poor, the high and the low.

"It comes to the Christian Scientist as well as to the physician; as well as to the Methodist, the Presbyterian, the Roman Catholic, the Israelite, the Mohammedan, the infidel, the atheist, the agnostic, the mesmerist, the hypnotist, to every one and every thing.

"Christian Scientists lay the at the root of the tree, and every tree that grows, my heavenly Father hath not planted shall be rooted up."

"The woman that was bowed to the ground so that she could not lift herself up, he healed instantly, and said, 'Stand up.'

"Christian Science covers the whole ground, answers all questions, and solves all problems; it turns the search light on all physical phenomena, and all materialistic beliefs; all hypotheses, speculations, conjectures and dogmas.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE NOT SPIRITUALISM.

"Christian Science comes to the spiritualists and all who believe there are spirits many, to reveal the scientific fact that God is spirit, and since spirit, but one God, there is therefore but one spirit. And since God is spirit, and God is one, hence there are not spirits many or spirits at all; neither are there parts of spirit; God is one, undivided and indivisible; and man and the universe, representing and expressing the divine Principle or spirit, are spiritual, but not spiritual.

"Christian Science, far from being narrow and belittling in its tendencies, is broadening and enlarging. It elevates, purifies and exalts man; and it is the highest, most liberal and most enabling religion there is or could be. It is the broadest, the deepest and the most scientific education that ever came to this world or ever will.

"Christian Science covers the whole ground, answers all questions, and solves all problems; it turns the search light on all physical phenomena, and all materialistic beliefs; all hypotheses, speculations, conjectures and dogmas.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE NOT SPIRITUALISM.

"Christian Science admits of no error, either in principle or conclusion, in cause or effect, in principle or expression.

"Christian Science lays the at the root of the tree, and every tree that grows, my heavenly Father hath not planted shall be rooted up."

"It speaks from the eternal principle of all things, and deals with eternal facts and that is not an eternal fact, that which will not be a fact through all eternity. It is therefore not a fact today; for in the science of life a fact must forever remain a fact, will be true through all eternity.

"Christian Science plagues beneath the surface of things, and brings out the eternal, the enduring, the spiritual and true. It breaks down the false, the seeming, the temporal and finite with the eternal fact.

"Christian Science shows that the so-called embodied spirits are all disembodied spirits are alike false and untrue; that both the embodied and disembodied spirits exist only as mortal beliefs, and have no more existence than the gods of mythology.

"Christian Science, the science of Life, turns the searchlight on spiritualism, mesmerism, mental suggestion, or hypnotism and animal magnetism, and many other isms and proves them to be finite sense vagaries, i. e. they will never stand the test of eternity, and consequently cannot stand the test of Christian Science.

state or condition of harmony, which finite sense knows nothing of, and can know nothing of; for finite sense knows nothing but discord.

"And here again is, where finite sense and Christian Science take positive issue. Finite sense knows nothing but inharmony, while Christian Science knows nothing but harmony.

"Finite sense cannot live where harmony is, any more than mortal man can look upon the face of God and live. The moment God, absolute good is seen, that moment mortal sense begins to die.

"The Science of Being could not see an error in being, any more than the science of numbers could see an error in mathematics, or any more than the sun could see darkness or heat could feel the cold. There is no such thing as a mathematical error, for an error in a mathematical solution, would not be mathematical; neither is there any such thing as a grammatical error, for an error in grammar would not be grammatical.

"Likewise there is no such thing as a scientific error in the science of Life, for an error in the solution of a scientific problem would not be scientific.

"Consequently there is no error in science, and Christian Science is absolutely free from error, and like the science of numbers, deals with nothing but perfection—absolute correctness."

"No one can find fault with the science of his own being, when he understands it, any more than he can find fault with the science of numbers when he understands that.

"Every theory beginning with the evidence of the senses, begins wrong, because the sense testimony is not reliable, and finally the senses cannot tell the truth in any thing, everything they testify to is false.

FALSITY OF FINITE SENSE.

"All the testimonies of the senses are simply limitations, that have no principle to support them; no foundation in fact; they are vagaries and deceptions, that ever lead into wrong conclusions and superstitious dogmas.

"The sense testimony is that the earth is flat and the sun passes around it. It was not so many centuries ago, when this contention was taken for evidence, that it was an universally conceded fact and was taught in all the schools of that day. And when that grand old mathematician Galileo, came to whom the world owes so much, for so many mathematical and geometrical propositions brought to light, and said, 'The earth moves and the sun stands still,' they hooted him off the streets, and called him crazy, a crank and an ignoramus; said he was a dangerous man to have at large, teaching the young such silly inconsistencies; and they put him in prison, and abused him, and would have hung him had he not remained.

"What would be thought of the teachers that would come teaching in accordance with the evidence of the senses such theories as they were teaching then, and would offer their services in our public schools today?

"Is it not plain how ignorant we all are who rely on the sense testimony for anything? And is it not fair to suppose that we are still in gross and blinded ignorance, who still support the sense testimony of a material earth and stellar universe and, a physical creation? Who will dare to say that future generations will not laugh at us and call us ignorant for thinking that we made of dust?"

"Taking the Bible in its literal sense, we as our fathers did, what wonder that they thought Galileo an imposter? For to their sense he flatly contradicted the Bible, as well as running counter to all common sense and reason. For the earth, to their sense, was flat, and stood still, as it appears to be, and must be established on foundations that it could not be moved forever, even as the Bible teaches, in its literal sense.

"Taking this in its most literal finite sense, as our fathers did, what wonder that they thought Galileo an imposter? For to their sense he flatly contradicted the Bible, as well as running counter to all common sense and reason. For the earth, to their sense, was flat, and stood still, as it appears to be, and must be established on foundations that it could not be moved forever, even as the Bible teaches, in its literal sense.

"But as we now see how false the literal rendering is in this text, may it not be found, as Christian Science discloses, that the literal rendering of the second chapter of Genesis, may be an absurdity as foolish and inconsistent as the other? For it teaches that the Lord God formed man out of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life and man (that was made out of dust) became a living soul."

Christian Science shows conclusively that man was not made according to the second chapter of Genesis, but the first chapter, where it is stated that man was made in the image and likeness of God; that the second account of the origin of man, as recorded in the second chapter of Genesis, is merely an allegory, giving the sense testimony of the manner of creation, which is just the opposite of the scientific and true. For the sense testimony must always be opposed to the scientific, because one is belief, the other is understanding; one judges from appearances, the other from principle. The sense testimony is the limited and finite; and the scientific testimony is the unlimited and infinite; one is false, the other is true.

BIBLE TEACHES THE TRUTH.

"Does the Bible, therefore, teach falsely? No; it teaches the truth; but it teaches the truth of the true, and it also teaches the truth of the false."

"It gives the scientific account of creation, and it gives also the finite sense account of creation: one is the true, the other is the false."

"Every theory starting from the evidence of the senses starts wrong. The earth, as we all know, is finite, supposed to be flat, according to appearances, and to stand on a foundation, but the foundation had to have another foundation, and they never could find what the last foundation rested upon."

"Evolution, or the Darwinian theory, that even many of our learned men have embraced today, starts with man—man as the senses behold him, and tries to reach his origin, but every last origin calls for another origin and they never can find what the last origin originated in."

"True, he reached as far as protoplasm, which was the ultimate of his research, and when he had to stop, he said, 'I can go no further.' But the question will arise, what did protoplasm come from? Or, if God made protoplasm, from which, by gradation man is evolved, then surely man must be in protoplasm. That is, protoplasm must contain all that is evolved from it, from the lowest to the highest of creation—plant, insect, animal and man."

"As the learned philosopher once said, 'My son, what do you see in that seed?'

"'My son, where you see nothing, I see a mighty banyan tree.'

"As much as to say if a banyan tree grows from that seed, or not,

then it must certainly contain a banyan tree.

MAN AND PROTOPLASM.

"Likewise if man could spring from protoplasm, then protoplasm must contain man, and furthermore, if an all wise and omnipotent God could make protoplasm, out of which to evolve man, could he not make man as well?"

"And still further. If God made protoplasm out of which to evolve man, then God must have had man in his thought; that man would be a thought in the infinite mind of God."

"And this is just what Christian Science teaches—that man, the true man, the image and likeness of God, is an idea in the infinite mind, expressing all the properties and qualities of divine Principle—perfect peace, perfect happiness, perfect health, and perfect and immortal life, the blessed state of harmony, where sickness and sorrow never comes."

"And this we do not need to die to attain to, but is for us, here and now; and can be arrived at each day, each hour, by putting off the old man with his deeds, and putting on the new man, which is Christ, the Lord."

"And this perfect state of man is a present accomplished fact, for whatever is to be, with God, is done. Whatever is to be true of man and the universe any time throughout eternity, is true today. Nothing can be true that will not stand the test of eternity. That which will not stand the test of eternity, never was true, never will be true, and is not true today."

"And it is only finite sense that says man is mortal and material today, but after death he will be spiritual. All that really is of man and the universe, will live forever; always did live, was always spiritual, never was material, and is not now. While all that will not live forever, never in reality did live, is not of God, and therefore is not at all. For God and the spiritual creation is all that really is, while the material creation really is not."

"For ages past men have taught the coming of the end of the world, i.e., that this material world or universe would come to an end; that this physical universe which finite sense says is a reality, in some unknowable incomprehensible and really impossible way, would be swept out of existence and become non-existent."

"Then would those who taunt us now, and say we worship her, be glad if they could lay their tributes at her feet, and hear from her own lips her gentle and kind forgiveness for all the unkindness they have heaped upon her who never did harm to them."

"And who has sought for all mankind the greatest good, the highest and the best that a world could possibly deserve—delivered from its ills?"

"And when we, her students, know and appreciate in part the much that has been done for us, and is still being done by her. Is it any wonder that we love her, and revere her, and do what we can to aid her in the great work that she is doing?"

SLIVERS HENLEY PITCHES GREAT GAME AT FREEMAN'S

Seals' Elongated Twirler Allows the Beavers Only One Scratch Hit in Nine Innings.

By T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

Slivers Henley, the toothpick pitcher of the San Francisco Seals twirled an exhibition of baseball at Freeman's Park yesterday afternoon, which was in every way commendable and very safe.

The young Seal had the Portland Beavers breaking their backs after his curves, and when they were not popping them up in the air they were swinging at them like a rusty old gun.

When tops were sounded the Portland boys were surprised in a pretty sort of kinsomine as has been applied to any baseball club here in recent years. San Francisco in the meantime had gathered two runs.

HENLEY IN FORM.

During the entire nine innings Henley allowed the Beavers to scratch out one hit. The solitary safety was made by the elongated Pat Newman. The Texan's hit was merely a scratch, but by the courtesy of the rules of the game he had to have it.

In nearly every inning Henley set the Beavers down in one-two-three fashion and at no stage of the game did the northmen look dangerous.

It was like taking candy from sick children the way Henley threw down the poor "little ones" from Portland.

Henley displayed a fine lot of twirling form. He had a high sort of speed, barrel wide curves and at the Portland batters seemed to have against his merivous pitching were hopes. Henley shattered these all right.

KINSELLA GOOD.

While we are draping some verbal bouquets around the slender Mr. Henley it will not do to overlook Kinsella. He played a very creditable form himself, and but for some bad play by the fielders behind him yesterday's game would have gone into the extra inning column.

He allowed the Seals only five hits during the afternoon. Three of them, however, were for doubles. He whitewashed six of the Seals' batsmen, and it was no fault of his that the Portland team lost the game.

Irwin's double, Wheeler's lift to Lovett and a wild pitch by Kinsella presented the Seals with their first run in the second inning.

Long's boys scored again on Irwin's pitcher's choice and Wheeler's double. Nothing doing after that.

PORTLAND PUNK.

Portland played about as daring a game as do the Lily Whites in their annual big game with the Violet Blues. Oh, but those Portland lads are a saucy lot.

They go to the bat like a flock of lambs merely waiting to be slaughtered, and there is not enough ginger in the blood of them to fill the hollow of a mustard seed.

McCredie will have to brace that team up. If he does not want to run subsequently in the coming pennant.

"I'll slap you on the wrist" is the sort of baseball those sassy northmen indulge in.

Pick up Portland. Score:

M'CAREY WILL HAVE TIME GETTING O'BRIEN-BURNS GO

Los Angeles Promoter Is Having Trouble in Rematching Heavyweights for Southern City.

By EDDIE SMITH.

With Jack O'Brien sulking in San Francisco and Tommy Burns making agreements with Jimmy Coffroth to box Bill Squires, it would seem that Uncle Tom McCarey will have a stormy time in getting the two heavies in the ring for their second meeting that was scheduled for next month at Los Angeles, during the flesha week. O'Brien has said that he is of the opinion that McCarey would like to pull out of the match and for that reason has insisted that he immediately post a $10,000 forfeit, which was supposed to have been put up by March 18. The supposition is that Burns is managed by McCarey, so it should be easy enough to land the Canadian for even less than the $30,000 purse that Tom has offered. O'Brien, like many of his pugilistic brethren, has a few offers in sight, however, and will not give in an inch on the original agreement between the fighters and McCarey. It may not be necessary, though, for him to do so, for McCarey has stated that he is not four-flushed and that he is prepared to go ahead with the contest as arranged. Burns is in light training at Los Angeles and ready to sign the final articles, and if the Los Angeles improvisor is not overcome with Mike McReynolds the contest will be on and the southern metropolis will again be the scene of a champion battle. The fight fans at this end of the woods are a bit anxious of the southern rovers and who can blame them when they look over the past year of pugilism and think of all the good things that McCarey has given them which we should have had.

Kyle White, who has been winning laurels in the amateur ranks and has become known through the kindness of the press agent as the colored demon, will make his professional debut at Vallejo tomorrow night, where he is signed to meet George Herberts, the hard hitting welterweight that Timothy J. McGrath expected would be the champion of his class by this time. The Abe Attell six-round scrap has started the managers in this country bidding for another match between the pair. The Pacific Coast will probably get it if it is arranged, for each man is anxious to get another chance at the previous match. It has been whispered that Attell let the Englishman make a good showing with him in the six-round bout in hope that he would get another match with him. This is hardly probable, however, as Robson is a fighter of class. This was shown in his two meetings with Tommy Murphy, who has been cleaning up on all the boys in his class for the past year in the East. He is a clever boxer, but a fighter who, according to past performances, requires a long route to show at his best. It may be that Attell can beat him and for myself I really think he can, but as to his ability the fight is to make a good show, the fight is to make a good show.

WRESTLER IS FAST PLAYERS IS AFTER A MATCH

IN POLO TEAMS

Following close upon the game between the Pavilion and Oakland teams Sunday afternoon, the Piedmonts and Pavilions will chase the puck at the Lakeside rink tonight.

Interest in this sport is being revived locally and the game promises to be well attended.

Both teams are fast and the Piedmonts demonstrated their superiority over the Pavilions at San Francisco last Friday when they defeated the latter by a score of 2 to 1, in one of the hardest fought contests ever witnessed in any of the bay cities.

The two teams are evenly matched and both are confident of coming through with flying colors tonight.

The Piedmont team is composed of the following:

Arthur Aguayo, first rush; Joe Peller, half back; Van Taylor, captain; Alfred Ferreira, goal tender; Joe Huff, second rush.

Chester McIntyre, the popular wrestling instructor of the Reliance Club, has been looking for some one to wrestle him for some time, but as yet none of the wrestlers of the coast have shown a desire to meet him. McIntyre is known throughout the Northwest as the champion of that section of the country and since coming to this portion of the woods has been more than anxious to get with some of our good men. He has a substantial side bet posted with the sporting editor of THE TRIBUNE, and would agree to most any terms to get a match.

Valentino Lajko, a Hungarian wrestler of some repute and a former champion in his country, has issued a challenge to any 145 pound man on the coast to wrestle a series of best two out of three falls, catch as catch can contest, and is willing to make a good-sized bet.

No Peremptory Challenges Will Be Made Until There Are Twelve Talesmen in Box.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—The trial of Abraham Ruef, on the charge of extortion, has now been in progress for fully a week and yet not a single juror has been accepted to try the case.

Up to the time of the adjournment of Judge Dunne's court yesterday evening, there had been fourteen talesmen drawn for the purpose of determining their fitness or otherwise to sit in the case, and, of these, there had been made the disposition which appears at the head of this column.

PEREMPTORY CHALLENGES.

Owing to the request of the defendant, the request being based on the decision of an Appellate Court in another section, the prosecution had agreed to the reduction of the defense in that shall have peremptory challenges until there are twelve talesmen.

In the jury box who have been passed by both sides, regardless of the fact that some of those talesmen may have been challenged by one side or the other and that the challenge has not been sustained by the court.

At the same time, the defense has announced that it will make use of all its peremptory challenges, and this means that nearly all of the talesmen now passed will be excused, because it has been apparent that counsel for the defendant have not been satisfied with a number of the talesmen who have been passed, more especially those whom it challenged which challenge the court subsequently disallowed.

STATUTORY OBJECTIONS.

At the same time, the prosecution will also exercise its right of peremptory challenges to the utmost because it is apparent that several men whom it has no use for, can be left off the jury in no other manner. Some of these objectionable people, the State has been able to do away with by resorting to statutory challenges, mainly by showing that they were not on the assessment roll for the last year.

DAY OF CLASHES.

The proceedings yesterday were the most interesting which have characterized the trial during the past day.

Several clashes took place between the counsel for the prosecution and the defense and there were also sharp passages between Judge Dunne and Henry Ach, the leading counsel for the defendant.

In one of these clashes, Ach was ordered to take his seat by Judge Dunne. Ach complied, after a couple of admonitions to that effect by the Court, who stated that he was anxious not to appear hasty in inflicting punishment on the purpose of maintaining the dignity of his court. It was this compunction which prevented Ach from being sent to jail for contempt.

In the other clash with the Court, Ach was given to understand that, hereafter, in the examination of talesmen, counsel for the defense would not be allowed to intimate that the Court was partial to the defense, but that the talesmen, in the jury box who have been passed by both sides, regardless of the fact that some of those talesmen may have been challenged by one side or the other and that the challenge has not been sustained by the court.

At the same time, the defense has announced that it will make use of all its peremptory challenges, and this means that nearly all of the talesmen now passed will be excused, because it has been apparent that counsel for the defendant have not been satisfied with a number of the talesmen who have been passed, more especially those whom it challenged which challenge the court subsequently disallowed.

AVOIDING ALL DANGER.

Counsel for the defendant readily perceived the Court meant that the admonition, if not heeded, would result in the commitment of the offender for contempt of Court and made up their minds to see if they might not get their ideas of the Court before the trial in some other manner and thus avoid the danger of going to jail for their temerity.

Accordingly, when the next talesmen came up for examination Ach announced that the associate counsel had examined a question affecting the subject and asked whether or not he might submit it to the Court to see if it would be allowed by the Judge.

Judge Dunne said that the question could be submitted and the query was read by Ach. There was little difference in the wording of the question which the Court had objected to and the one framed by associate counsel. The string was still in it, Johnson objected to the latest query and the Court sustained the objection. It will therefore be a hazardous proceeding for Ach to traverse that ground any more.

METHODS OF DEFENSE.

There is a remarkable difference in the manner in which the talesmen are examined by opposing counsel. Usually the questioning by the attorney for the prosecution lasts for only a few moments, while that of the defense extends over a couple of hours. Ach's questions cover a wide range of territory. The talesmen must not have had any acquaintance with any person connected with the prosecution, with the Spreckels family, or with any of the daily newspaper men of this city; must never have formed a hostile opinion of the defendant; must never have had any dealings with the proprietors of the French restaurants of San Francisco and must be of that state of mind that he would hold out, if necessary, against eleven jurors who might be in favor of convicting Ruef. In the event of conviction, the defense should have a reasonable doubt as to the propriety of the Delmonico restaurant, who is the principal witness against Ruef on the ground of extortion was more worthy of audience than Ruef himself. All these subjects and many more are gone into, and, as a result, there is something of monotony in the proceedings, except when there are clashes between counsel and Court as before stated.

RUEF'S HABEAS CORPUS.

Last evening the court adjourned until tomorrow morning for the purpose of enabling the defendant and the respective counsel to appear in the Supreme Court, today, where the habeas corpus case, to determine whether or not Ruef will remain in the custody of the elisor or be transferred

LAWYER IN POLITICS.

"Have you any prejudice against a lawyer engaging in politics as Mr. Ruef did in connection with the Schenck and Union Labor campaigns?"

"No."

"Do you know that in the French restaurants, they sold liquors, wines and champagnes?"

"Yes."

"Do you know whether it was essential for them to sell liquor on the premises?"

"I suppose it was necessary."

"Have you an idea of how much money was invested in those restaurants in Delmonico's for instance?"

"I have not."

ABE RUEF'S LIFE.

Ach the n outlined Ruef's life in school, college, in the practice of the law, and closed after he had shown Ruef had attained to influence in the community. He then asked if Varnhagen would have any objection to such a man making an argument, as the attorney for all those restaurants, to prevent the revocation of the license of several of them after the license of one restaurant had been revoked and that of another had been upheld.

"I would not," replied Varnhagen.

"Would you judge $5000 too much to be paid for such services by all those restaurants?"

"I do not think the sum should be excessive."

"Do you think that $1175 would be too much to be paid by Delmonico for the efforts of such an attorney as Ruef for a year in work of this kind who was to respond at any time that his services might be required?"

"I do not know what might be the proper fee for an attorney in such a case."

SPRECKELS FAMILY.

"Do you know Rudolph Spreckels?"

"I do not."

"Do you know any of the Spreckels family?"

"I do not."

"Are you in any wise connected with the Citizens' Alliance?"

"No, sir."

"Are you acquainted with any person who is in the employ of Rudolph Spreckels or any member of the Spreckels family?"

"I do not."

"Do you buy anything from any of the corporations with which Rudolph Spreckels is connected?"

"I do not."

"Do you do any business with the First National Bank of which Rudolph Spreckels is president?"

"I did but I don't now."

"Was that when Mr. Murphy was connected with it?"

"Yes."

"Suppose the case should resolve itself to the point that it was a question of veracity between French restaurant men and Ruef; that if the story of the restaurant man was to be believed, Ruef was guilty; if Ruef was to be believed, he should be declared innocent; if you had a doubt as to the reliability of the restaurant man's testimony, would you give the benefit of that doubt to the defendant?"

"Certainly, I would give him the benefit of the doubt."

"Have you ever heard any one un-dare to tell you what the testimony was before the grand jury?"

"No."

"Are you personally acquainted with Judge Dunne?"

"No, sir."

"Were you in the courtroom the day Attorney Shortridge was sent to jail for contempt?"

"Yes."

"Were you in court the day Mr. Healey read an affidavit declaring the sheriff disqualified?"

"Yes."

"Were you there the day the court denied Mr. Ruef a change of venue?"

"Yes."

CAUSE OF PREJUDICE.

"Did anything you heard on that day prejudiced you against the accused?"

"No."

"Would you entertain a bias against Ruef because his attorney asked questions, objections to which were sustained?"

"No."

"Would you become prejudiced against the defendant because you thought his attorney was met with too many objections?"

"No."

"Have any strangers called at your house and asked you how you felt on this case?"

"Not that I can recall."

On the re-direct, Mr. Johnson asked:

"When was it you formed your opinion of this case?"

"Will you tell us whether or not you have changed your opinion?"

"I can hardly tell what it was."

"Will you tell us what it was that changed your opinion?"

"I can't say that any thing specially changed my opinion. Sometimes I would feel that one idea was right and some other time I would think that my view would be wrong."

THEODORE F. KAST.

Theodore F. Kast, a grocer of 2207 Franklin street, answered the formal questions propounded by Mr. Johnson to the effect that he knew nobody connected with the prosecution, had taken no stand in municipal politics, and would give the defendant a fair trial.

"Have you expressed an opinion on this matter?"

"A few place of business, customers would come in and talk about it. I would raise it in the conversation."

"It was mainly on newspaper topics."

"Is there anything that has occurred at any time, that has prejudiced you against the prosecution?"

"Did you express an opinion then?"

"Not my full opinion."

The witness answered a number of questions which showed that Varnhagen had resided in about half a dozen places within the last few years.

He was then turned over to Attorney Ach for the defense.

"Have you any personal bias or prejudice against Mr. Ruef or the attorneys for Mr. Ruef?"

"No, sir."

ACH NO OPINION.

"From what you have read of Mr. Ruef in the Bulletin and Call, have you formed any opinion as to his guilt or innocence in connection with the Delmonico restaurant?"

"No, I have not formed an opinion."

"Have you a general idea of what was done at those French restaurants?"

"Just from hearsay."

"More than one floor?"

"I have been told so."

"Would you set up your own judge as to what an attorney should charge as to fees to his client?"

"I think if an attorney makes a bad bargain with a client he ought to stand by it."

"It would require evidence to remove that opinion?"

"It would to a certain extent."

"Ach then challenged the talesman on the ground of bias.
